NUBE, HURRY! GET HIM!

HE WENT INTO THAT THING!

But nowadays, these Gods existences have been long forgotten. Kamidana can hardly be found, resulting in few homes for them. They then visit other houses and people now believe they are youkai who appear as the owner of those houses.

WHO AM I?

Long ago, every house had a Kamidana in them. In order to have Gods visit their house, people offered them food and various things. Those Gods then protect the house in exchange, and reside there while being respected in the house.

Have you ever heard of Maroudogami*?

NURARI-HYON, YOU ARE

NOWADAYS, THOSE PROTECTING GODS DIDN'T EVEN COME ACROSS MY MIND.

MIKI, HE TREATED YOU WELL BECAUSE YOU'RE THE ONLY ONE WHO WAS KIND AND RESPECTFUL TO HIM IT'S NOT GOOD TO EXPECT LUXURY FOR FREE, BUT YOU'RE ADMIRABLE FOR RESPECTING YOUR ELDERS.

BUT YOU STILL NEED TO GIVE BACK THE RETURNABLE ITEMS- LIKE CLOTHES AND TOYS

WELL, WE'LL JUST CONSIDER THE FOOD AS A PUNISHMENT FOR US.

THANK YOU. WE'RE SO SORRY

WHAT'RE YOU THINKING ABOUT?!

SHE'S JUST HOPELESS.

Part7
Nurarihyon

He's quite a well-known youkai, but there's little literature on him remaining.Toriyama Sekien drew him as a travelling old man with a big, balloon-like head. Afterwards, the Nurarihyon introduced in pictures or manga have mostly followed on this image. The main characteristic of this youkai is to appear out of nowhere without anybody noticing. For example, while the house-wife is cleaning up dinner, he would suddenly appear in the house, drinking their tea or smoking their pipe. His act is so bold that no one will consider him suspicious or notice him. Then after a while, just like how he got in, he gets out without anyone noticing.

He also walks around the town, but not one person who passes him will regard him as youkai. He is a mysterious youkai with an unknown origin or destination. There's a story saying that Nurarihyon is a Grand General of the Youkai Army, but I think it's also a result of his bold attitude.

Youkai Encyclopedia

Part 8:
The Carrying Monster

When you're walking at night, there are times when suddenly you feel something heavy clinging on your back. This is the "Carrying Monster" and similar cases have been reported all over Japan.

The true identity of this monster differs in every region: some is a spirit dwelling in stones or something foxes or tanukis took form of. In other words, carrying monster is not the name of a certain youkai, but rather refers to a youkai that piggybacks on humans. Based on that, we can also catagorize "Konaki Geezer" as one form of carrying monster.

In that case, if there're good youkai among these carrying monsters, naturally evil youkai also exist. In folk tales, an honest old man carried a carrying monster to his home and it turned into money and jewels when he reached home. On the contrary, a greedy old man did the same, but it turned into pine resin. The honest old man was lucky to come across a good-natured carrying monster. Which monster you come across totally depends on your luck. Those unfortunate ones are better off runnning if they ever met any.

Part 9
Nenekogappa

The hometown of Carl Smoky Ishii from Kome Kome Club, Ushiku Town in Ibaraki Prefecture is well-known for its folktales about kappa. However, there're also many other towns with kappa stories, such as the area around Tone River Basin. Well, it makes sense considering it is the largest river basin in Japan nicknamed as "Bandou Tarou".

*Bandou is an obsolete alias of the Kanto Region, and Tarou is a popular given name for an oldest son. It's the biggest, thus the "eldest".

So, among the many legends about kappa, there's a particularly famous, yet rare, female kappa called "Nenekogappa". She's featured in "Tone River Illustrations" and is still gathering her believers among the locals nowadays. According to legend, she was believed to be the invincible ruthless kappa leader in the Kanto region. She even defeated General Kyuusenbou, the general of 9000 kappas in Kumamoto Kyushu, who caught wind of her strength and challenged her.

At any rate, apparently Nenekogappa's violent rampage caused lots of troubles for the locals, such as pulling kids or horses into the river or causing crops to fail. However, one day she messed up, was caught by a human, and was about to be killed. She pled miserably for her life and was let off. Since then, she changed and became a co-operative youkai.

Nowadays, the shrine that worships Nenekogappa can be found in Tone Town, Kitasouma District, Ibaraki Prefecture. She's worshipped for various things like financial fortune or safe labor.

Hitouban

Hitouban can be assumed to be the Chinese version of Kokurokubi. While Kokurokubi stretch their necks, Hitouban separete their heads off and fly around independently. (Alas come their alias Nukekubi*) These two youkai are often mistakenly mixed up and seen as the same youkai. In fact, they have many similarities.

By the way, Hitouban also live out of China. A youkai called Chonchon in Chile, South America also flies with their ears. In fact, Chonchon are also considered as messengers of the dead.

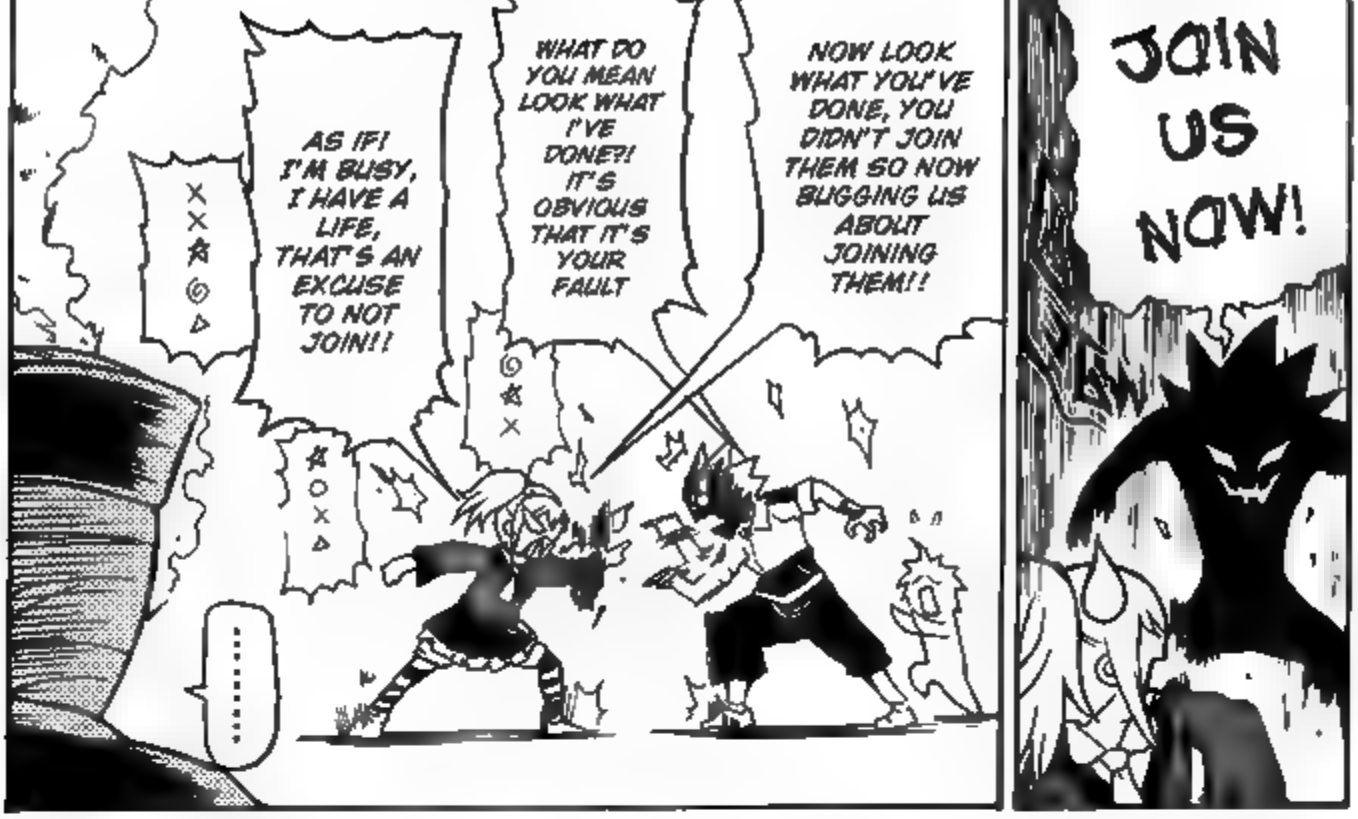
Part11
The Seven Misaki

"Misaki" originally was a word that meant "herald" or "harbinger" and was associated with "omen" when said in English. It is a spiritual phenomenon that foretells catastrophe or disasters.

For example, when you're walking at night, you're suddenly struck by an indescribable terror and chills. At this time, you'd say, "It's an ominous wind". An omen has appeared in a form wind. A Misaki itself is a small spirit, always brings catastrophe along with it. And thus, it has been feared since then.

And so, seven of these Misaki became "The Seven Misaki". The Seven Misaki in form of mountain priests introduced in this chapter are modelled from ones that appeared in Mihara City, Hiroshima Prefecture. Aside from that, some also saw monk-modelled Seven Misaki in Tokuyama City, Yamaguchi Prefecture. People who see the Seven Misaki will certainly die. Moreover, since they specifically target children and women, people fear them tremendously that they don't dare to walk around at night. A method to get away without crossing path with the Seven Misaki is to walk while holding your thumb within you palm, but there's no guarantee of the result. Other than refraining to go out at night, there isn't a way to prevent them as of now.



AS IF! I'M BUSY, I HAVE A LIFE, THAT'S AN EXCUSE TO NOT JOIN!!

IZUNA TAMER

IZUNA IS A SPIRITUAL BEAST AS SMALL AS A MOUSE. IT'S KEPT IN A THIN BAMBOO VIAL, HENCE THEY'RE CALLED "KUDAGITSUNE*" IN NII-GATA REGION. THE PERSON THAT USES THESE BEASTS TO PERFORM SORCERY OR CURSES ARE CALLED AN "IZUNA TAMER" OR A "KUDA TAMER".

*T/N: tube fox

HE ITAKO IN TOHOKO REGION ARE WELL-KNOWN AS AN IZUNA TAMER. HOWEVER, SINCE QUITE A TOUGH LEVEL OF SPIRITUAL POWER AND TRAINING ARE NEEDED IN RAISING THESE BEASTS, IT'S IMPOSSIBLE FOR ORDINARY PEOPLE TO TRAIN THEM. A HOUSE THAT RAISES KUDAGITSUNE IS CALLED A "KUDATSUKI". THESE HOUSES WILL PROSPER IN A FLASH AT THE BEGINNING, THEN COLLAPSE AT THE SAME SPEED. IT'S DUE TO THE KUDAGITSUNE BREEDING OFF ITS LUCKY FORTUNE. THAT'S WHY A KUDATSUKI IS ALWAYS SHUNNED OUT. IT'LL BE REJECTED BY ITS SOCIETY BEFORE GRADUALLY COLLAPSING. TO BE PRECISE, IT'S MORE LIKELY TO BRING DISASTER THAN LUCK. IF YOU'RE PLANNING TO RAISE A KUDAGITSUNE, YOU'LL HAVE TO GO THROUGH A THOROUGH TRAINING. GOT IT, IZUNA-KUN?

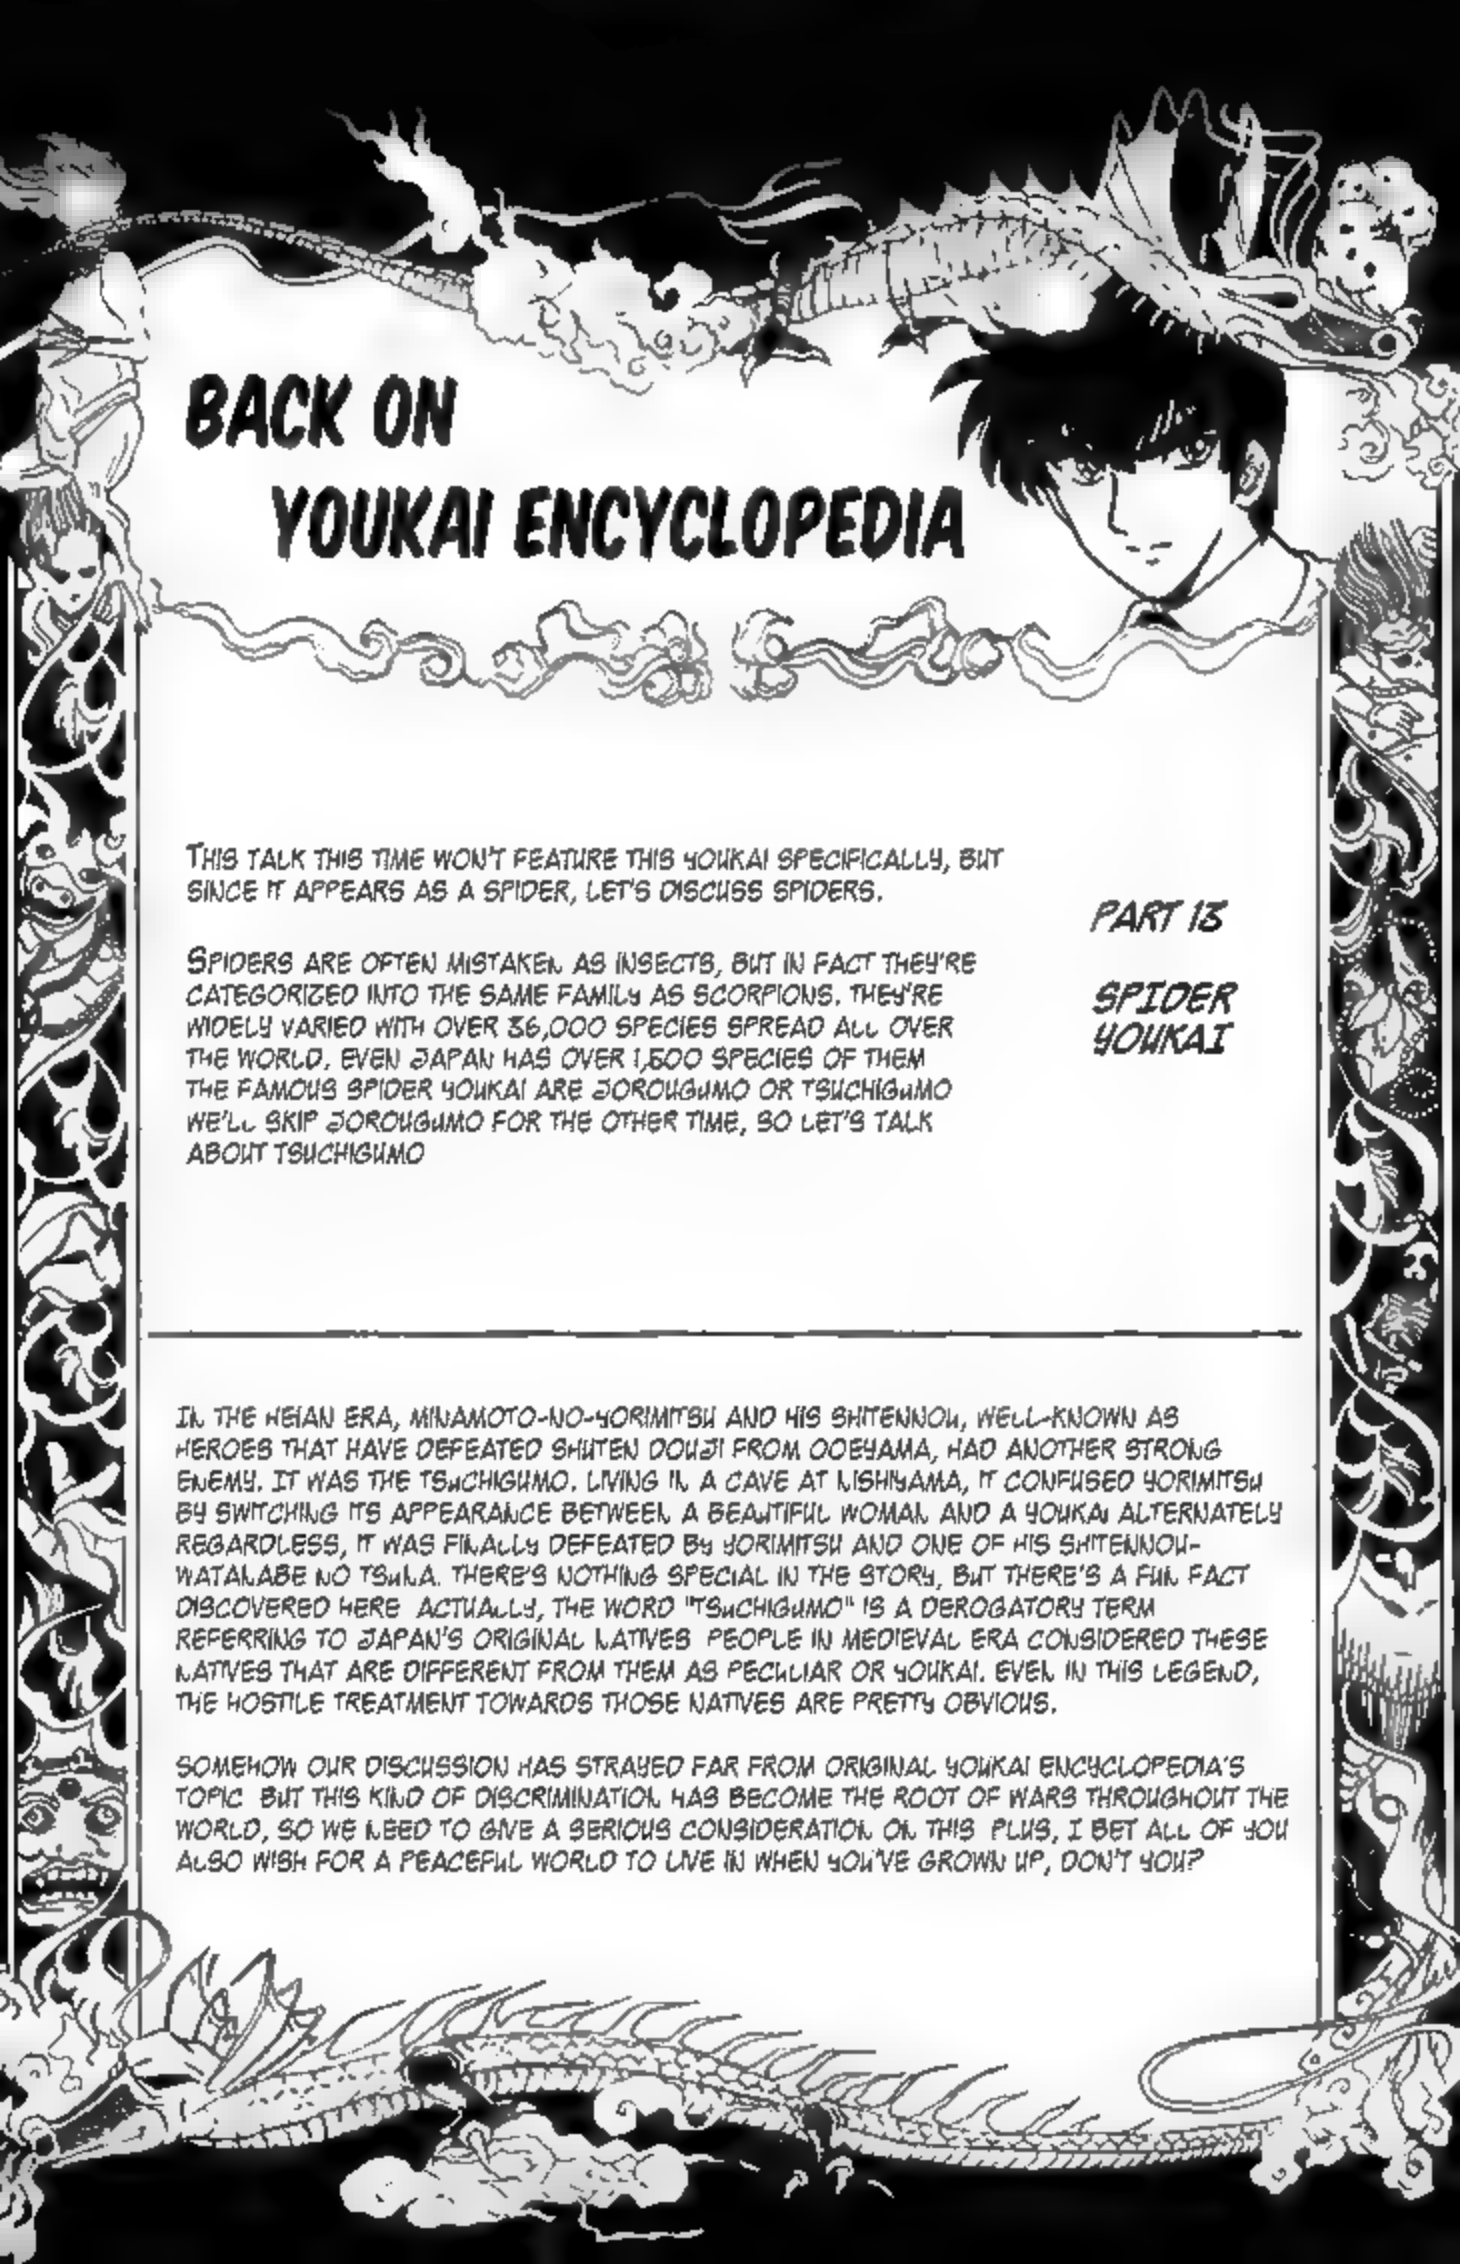
SFX Pssshhhhh



BACK ON YOUKAI ENCYCLOPEDIA

THIS TALK THIS TIME WON'T FEATURE THIS YOUKAI SPECIFICALLY, BUT SINCE IT APPEARS AS A SPIDER, LET'S DISCUSS SPIDERS.

SPIDERS ARE OFTEN MISTAKEN AS INSECTS, BUT IN FACT THEY'RE CATEGORIZED INTO THE SAME FAMILY AS SCORPIONS. THEY'RE WIDELY VARIED WITH OVER 36,000 SPECIES SPREAD ALL OVER THE WORLD. EVEN JAPAN HAS OVER 1,500 SPECIES OF THEM THE FAMOUS SPIDER YOUKAI ARE JOROUGUMO OR TSUCHIGUMO WE'LL SKIP JOROUGUMO FOR THE OTHER TIME, SO LET'S TALK ABOUT TSUCHIGUMO

PART 13

SPIDER YOUKAI

IN THE HEIAN ERA, MINAMOTO-NO-YORIMITSU AND HIS SHITENNOU, WELL-KNOWN AS HEROES THAT HAVE DEFEATED SHUTEN DOUJI FROM OOEYAMA, HAD ANOTHER STRONG ENEMY. IT WAS THE TSUCHIGUMO. LIVING IN A CAVE AT NISHIYAMA, IT CONFUSED YORIMITSU BY SWITCHING ITS APPEARANCE BETWEEN A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN AND A YOUKAI ALTERNATELY REGARDLESS, IT WAS FINALLY DEFEATED BY YORIMITSU AND ONE OF HIS SHITENNOU- WATANABE NO TSUNA. THERE'S NOTHING SPECIAL IN THE STORY, BUT THERE'S A FUN FACT DISCOVERED HERE ACTUALLY, THE WORD "TSUCHIGUMO" IS A DEROGATORY TERM REFERRING TO JAPAN'S ORIGINAL NATIVES PEOPLE IN MEDIEVAL ERA CONSIDERED THESE NATIVES THAT ARE DIFFERENT FROM THEM AS PECULIAR OR YOUKAI. EVEN IN THIS LEGEND, THE HOSTILE TREATMENT TOWARDS THOSE NATIVES ARE PRETTY OBVIOUS.

SOMEHOW OUR DISCUSSION HAS STRAYED FAR FROM ORIGINAL YOUKAI ENCYCLOPEDIA'S TOPIC BUT THIS KIND OF DISCRIMINATION HAS BECOME THE ROOT OF WARS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD, SO WE NEED TO GIVE A SERIOUS CONSIDERATION ON THIS PLUS, I BET ALL OF YOU ALSO WISH FOR A PEACEFUL WORLD TO LIVE IN WHEN YOU'VE GROWN UP, DON'T YOU?
